Building Healthy Communities

CWDA Conference October 2011

The Nexus of Place and Health

Tony Iton, M.D., J.D., MPH Senior Vice President The California Endowment

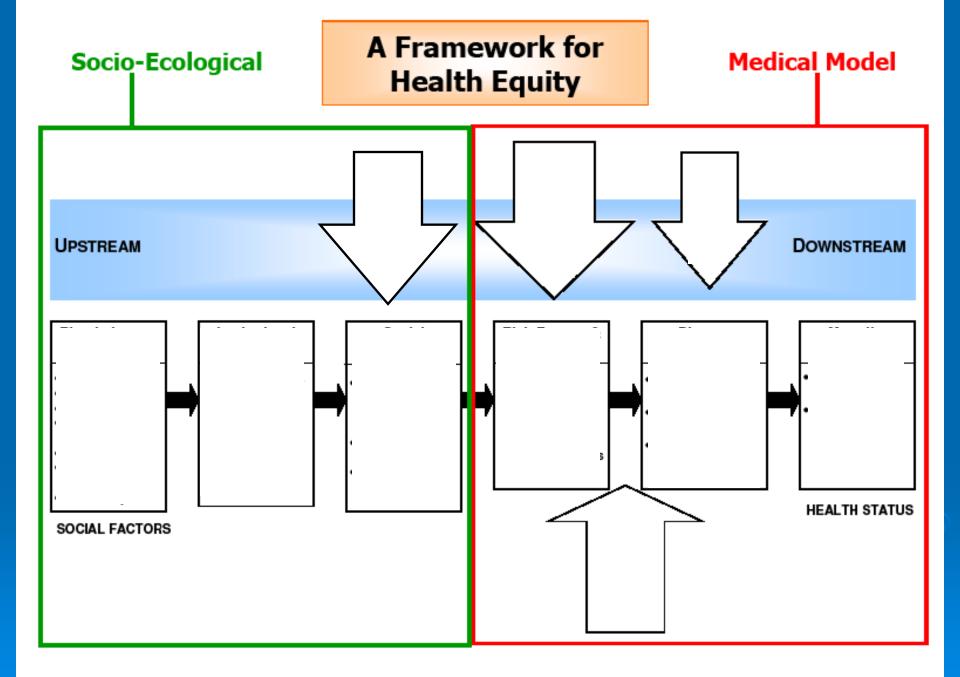

The "Why"

The Argument For A Place-Based Approach To Health

Achieving Health Equity Means Fighting For Social Justice!

Health ≠ Health care

Where You Live Matters

It Matters A LOT!

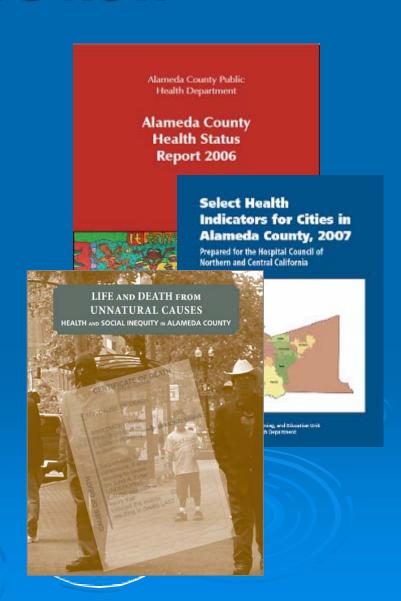

Alameda County Public Health Department Mission

To work in partnership with the community to ensure the optimal health and well being of all people through a dynamic and responsive process respecting the diversity of the community and challenging us to provide for present and future generations.

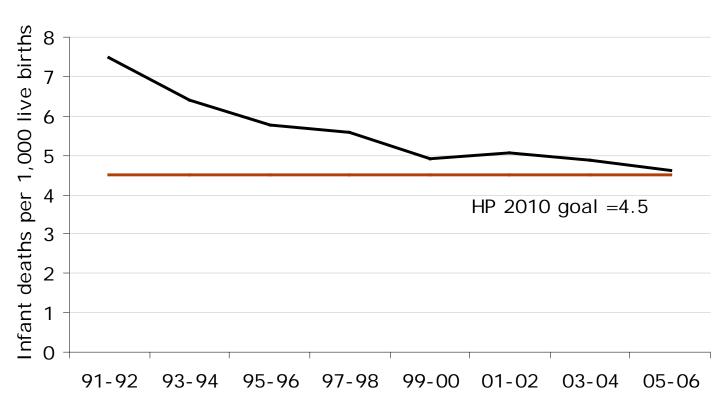

Where we are now

- Overall health has improved.
- Health improvements have not been realized equally across population subgroups in the County.
 - Major inequities in life expectancy and mortality driven by chronic diseases

Infant mortality is decreasing...

...but it's far from a success story.

Three times higher rates among African Americans than Whites or Asians/PIs

Infant Mortality by Race/Ethnicity Alameda County 1991-2006

For this reason, September 2009 has been declared National Infant Mortality Awareness Month by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors:

- Whereas, September 2009 is National Infant Mortality Awareness Month. Infant mortality is the death of a live-born baby within the first year of life; and
- Whereas, the U.S. Census Bureau indicates that the United States ranks 29th among industrialized countries in infant mortality rates and has higher infant mortality rates than the Czech Republic, Slovenia and Cuba; and
- Whereas, the leading causes of infant death include congenital birth defects, prematurity (born too soon), low birth weight (born too small), and Sudden Infant Death Syndrome; and
- "Whereas, to ensure healthy pregnancy Whereas, A (4.5). Howe outcomes, women need to have access to
- high quality health care and communities Whereas, A infants. Ala must be supported to improve social have been f
- Whereas, to and community of conditions (e.g., poverty, housing) that impact prematurity and low birth weight."

the national goal infants; and die as White omes Program regnant and quality health care

) that impact

- NOW, THERFORE, the Alameda County Board of Supervisors does hereby recognize the importance of National Infant Mortality Month and increased public awareness concerning the needs of pregnant women, infants, children and families.
- September 8, 2009

The Neighborhood Context

